

Course Name : Philosophy of Religion

Course: PHL 220

Course description:

This course will analyze issues basic to understanding of world's religions. This will reflect upon the major eastern and western religions. It will analyze the influence of religion on civilizations and on human life, by understanding ideas of divinity and arguments for the existence of God. This course will evaluate the relationship of faith with reason and arguments for personal immortality and enlightenment.